

CHARLES A. MOORE SUES FOR DIVORCE

Late Major of 56th Artillery
Charges Young Wife With Cruelty.

SHE WILL FIGHT ACTION

Marital Troubles Had Existed
Before Hardware Manufacturer Joined Colors.

Major Charles A. Moore, president of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, hardware manufacturers, and once reputed to be a millionaire, is fighting a bitter battle with the Fifty-sixth Artillery, C. A. C. began suit yesterday for a divorce from Annette Sperry Moore. At the time of her marriage in 1908 Mrs. Moore was called the most beautiful young woman of Nashville, Tenn.

Major Moore alleges intolerable cruelty. His complaint was filed in the superior court at Bridgeport, Conn. He lives in Orange, N. J. A copy of the complaint was mailed to Mrs. Moore in care of Paul Bonnyne, her counsel at 111 Broadway. The papers were made returnable on June 1.

The affairs in the Moore home were going smoothly has been known for a long time among their friends in society. It was believed, however, that the difficulties would be settled out of court.

Says Charge Is Absurd.

Mr. Bonnyne, when told that Major Moore had brought suit, said that Mrs. Moore would make counter-charges. The charge of cruelty made by Major Moore is absurd, the lawyer said. He said that Major Moore weighs 200 pounds and Mrs. Moore but half of that.

Major Moore asked that he be given the custody of the three minor children, two boys and a girl.

Major Moore is 45 years old. His life has been an active one. Before his marriage he was a globe trotter, big game hunter and explorer. He was with Peary in one of his expeditions, and dashed toward the North Pole. He penetrated to the interior of Arabia with the late Homer Davidson, the cartoonist, to obtain examples of the best Arabian horses for breeding purposes.

Mrs. Moore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sperry of Nashville. She was returning with her parents from a tour of the White Star liner Canopus on which Major Moore came back from Arabia. Major Moore followed her to Nashville and the marriage took place soon after.

Succeeded His Father.

Major Moore bought much property at Greenwich and developed it into a costly estate. He dropped the family that had kept him away from New York nearly all the time and became vice-president of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, the big enterprise of which his father was president. The elder Moore died several years ago and his son succeeded him in the presidency. The elder Moore left his large fortune to his wife in trust, with his children as beneficiaries at her death. One of the children is the Duchess de Torlonia of Florence, Italy.

WM. L. HARKNESS, YACHTSMAN, DIES

Had Been Ill Only Five Days of Heart Trouble.

William L. Harkness, capitalist and yachtsman, died yesterday in his home, 12 East Fifty-third street, of acute heart trouble. He had been ill for five days.

Mr. Harkness came to this city several years ago from Cleveland with his wife, Mrs. Edith Hale Harkness, his daughter, Miss Louise Harkness, and his son William H. His business offices were in 12 Broadway. He maintained a summer estate at Glen Cove, where he was in the habit of spending much time aboard his boats.

He was a member of the New York Yacht Club and the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club. He was the owner of the Gunilla, a 100,000 yacht that was stranded eight years ago on the north shore of Lake Superior with his family and a party of guests from this city on board. No one was injured in the accident, although it caused much alarm for a day or two while the safety of the party was in doubt.

FREDERICK S. NEWCOMB.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

New London, Conn., May 10.—Frederick S. Newcomb, aged 67, died this morning in his home on Vauxhall street after an illness of several months. He was born in New London, son of James and Sarah Weaver Newcomb. Mr. Newcomb was educated in the local schools. He was a member of the local church, and continued there until the firm sold out and he retired, in 1891.

For about thirty years Mr. Newcomb was a member of the school board. All grade schools were built during his term of service, several under his direct supervision. His attention had been given recently to the trusteeship of the Cedar Grove Cemetery Association and the Lawrence Hospital, to which last office he was appointed by the will of the late Sebastian D. Lawrence.

In 1877 Mr. Newcomb married Miss Harriet Chappell, eldest daughter of the late Richard Chappell, who survives him as president of the school board. Mr. Newcomb was survived by his wife, Miss Edith, Clara, Ruth and Cornelia Newcomb, and Richard and Theodore Newcomb.
